

Hey XXX!

We've all heard it once in our life, you should never use a cotton swab to clean your ears! Yet, we still do. There is no better feeling than hopping out of the shower and sticking a cotton swab directly inside of your ear and finding that spot, you know the "spot" I'm referring to! Ahhhh... you're now entering an "eargasm."

But wait, just wait one minute, as satisfying as this feels it's more likely you're doing more harm than good. Sticking a straight object into a particular hole of your body just sounds wrong!

Hence, ear wax does come at us fast, and sometimes a quick fix is just what we need to get our day started. Instead of using a harsh cotton swab that can be pushing ear wax further into the canal of your ear, try the new "Smart Swab."

This revolutionary tool is safe and extracts earwax without the risk of damage. Hear that? (pun intended) the Smart Swab has a soft, flexible spiral tip that you simply insert, twist and ta-da ear wax removed! Easy, right? It's as simple as 1, 2, 3...
